PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

Gives His Reasons for Not Signing the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The President to-day sent the following letter to Representative Catchings, of Mississippi, who consented to its publicain view of its public character and importance:

"Ex. Mansion, Washington, August 27th, 1894. 5
"Hon. T. Catchings:
My Drar Sir.—Since the conversa tion I had with you and Mr. Clark, of Alabama, a few days ago, in regard to my action on the tariff bill now before me, I have given the subject further and more serious consideration. The result is, I am more settled than ever in the data minutes. than ever in the determination to al than ever in the determination to allow the bill to become a law without my signature. When the formulation of legislation, which it was hoped would embody Democratic ideas of tariff reform, was lately entered upon by Congress, nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptly and enthusiastically endorse. It is, therefore, with a feeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege. al of this privilege.

I do not claim to be better than the a do not claim to be better than the masses of my party, nor do I wish to avoid my responsibility, which on account of the passage of this law, I ought to bear as a member of the Democratic organization; neither will I permit myself to be separated from my party to such an extent as might my party to such an extent as might be implied by my veto of tariff legis-lation, which, though disappointing, is still chargeable to Democratic effort. But there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with honest tariff reform, and it contains inconsistencies and crudities which ought not to appear in tariff laws, or laws of any kind. Besides, there were, as you and I well know, incidents action, which ought not to be recogform councils. "And yet, notwithstanding all its vicissitudes and all the bad treatment it received at the hands of pretended certainly lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier against the full tide of sucess at the present the return of mad protection, but it time. The number of men who run

I love the principles of true Democracy because they are founded in patriotism and upon justice and fairness toward all interests. I am proud of my party organization be-cause it is conservatively sturdy and persistent in the enforcement of its Therefore I do not despair of the tives to supplement the bill already passed by further legislation and to have engrafted upon it such modifications as will more nearly meet Democratic hopes and aspirations. I can't be mistaken as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one of its encouraging and redeeming features; but it is vexatious to recall that, while the free coal and free fron ore have been denied, a letter of the secretary of the might have been made free by the revenue.

"I am sure that there is a common habit of underestimating the importthe welfare of your stock as well as ance of free raw materials in tariff legislation, and as regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is, their influence is so far-reaching, that if disregarded, a comreform cannot be successfully inaugurated. When we give to our manuthe continuous and remunerative employment of American labor. With ingly cheapened. The principle of fairness and justice to the consumer would demand that manufacturers be upon their finished goods as would secure to the people the benefit of the reduced cost of their manufacture and shield the consumer against the exactions of inordinate profits.

"It will thus be seen that free raw materials and a just of fearless regu-lation and reduction of the tariff to meet the changed conditions, would carry to every humble home in the land the blessings of increased comfort and cheaper living. The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform, should be exhorted to continue the struggle holdly challenging to one. struggle, boldly challenging to open warefare and constantly guarding against treachery and half hearted-ness in their camp. Tariff reform will not be settled until it is honestly and fairly settled in the interest and to the benefit of a patient and long suffering people. Yours very truly, "GROVER CLEVELAND."

The store of Saur & Balsley has become almost a-by word in every home in this and adjoining counties, and their reputation is known far and near. DYNAMITE IN THE WHEAT.

ron, Ohio.

Arron, O., Aug. 23.—Some fiend in human form caused the death of one man, the probably fatal injury of another, the painful injury of a third, and the destruction of several thousand dollars worth of property, late yesterday afternoon.

While the threshers were at work on the farm of Abe Whitney, on Summit Hill, just southwest of the city, an explosion occured which partly wrecked the separator, which was in the barn, and set fire to the structure. Within an hour the building, an immense barn, and all of its contents were a smoking rule, in the midst of which lay the unrecognizable remains of one man, while two others were lying in the house near by writhing rain, in the midst of which lay the unrecognizable remains of one man, while two others were lying in the house near by writhing twith the rain of shocking burns.

About half an nour before the e plosion in which started the fire occured, a box of dynamite had been found concealed in a sheaf of wheat. This created anxiety among the threshers, but they proceeded with their work. The explosion was evidently of a small dynamite cartridge, but the object of the villian who placed it in the sheaf was thoroughly accomplished. The fire spread with lightning rapidity and in a few minutes of the building was in flames. John Whitney, son of the owner of the barn, Jacob Meyer, a farm hand, and Rolly Whitney, ran into the stable beneath the barn to resone the horses. The flames gained too rapidly upon them, however, and they were obliged to seek their own safely. Meyer was unable to escape, and was burned to death. John and Rolly Whitney got out, but both were badly burned and it is said that the former cannot live four horses, a mule and some cattle were roasted to death, many farm implements were destroyed, and Whitney's entire crop of wheat and oats was consumed. The loss is cestimated at $6,000, with $1,500 mearance. An effort was made to get Meyer's remains from the burning building, but the attempt was abandoned, as the heat was too excessive. General Field Order No. 1.]

The Brigadier General commanding wisles to congratulate the troops on their conduct yesterday, the 9th day of May at this place. The first division in this action, and that of the 6th of May in the wilderness, has begun its career handsomely. The first division for the rapidity and gallantry with which it came up to the front, deserves great praise. Romer's Veteran Battery has again signalized itself. Among the old regiments, who all did gloriously, it would be difficult to single out one which distinguished itself most. Of the new regiments, the Sixtieth Ohio, which led the advance finely, is entitled to honorable mention. It is to be hoped that one other new regiment will soon regain the good name it won on she sixth instant, and came near losing yesterday. The officers and men of this regiment must rally to ntheir pride. The names of officers and men who have particularly distinguished themselves, will be hereafter collected from the report to be made by regimental and brigade commanders. By order of

WILLIAM RICHARDS, A. G. G.

It is expected that an unusually large nun-ber will attend owing to the cheap railroad rates offered for the State Fair. They have a novel method of killing crows in Georgia. Grains of corn are pierced and through them is inserted the hair from the tail of a horse. These grains are scattered in the field where the crows are in the habit of coming. When the bird swallows one of these grains the horse's hair prevents it from passing into the craw and irritates the mouth. The bird rolls over, turns on its back and scratches to get it out, but to no purpose. Death results either from stangulation or, as is frequently the case, from the wounds inflicted by the sharp claws. The crows gather around the victim, but, although they are of an exceedingly suspicious nature, they never attribute the trouble to the corn.
